Personal Statement

I am a dedicated student at Exeter University and have just entered my third year of a BSc in Computer Science.

After I graduate, I would love to gain some more experience in the workplace, as well as have the opportunity to meet new people.
I would describe myself as a friendly, self-motivated, reliable person who demonstrates commitment to achieving high standards.

In my 2nd year I completed a group project where I learned about agile development methodologies, as well as how to properly work and communicate as a team. I am currently achieving a first in almost all modules and am loving it so far.

Work Experience

Partech

I have had work experience at a company called Partech, which specialises in the testing of water purity in water fountains. I was there for a week, learning the basics of data entry, some programming and working as a team. I was then offered a temporary job to work over the summer at Partech, where I developed my skills further.

FatFace

Over the last two summer periods I was employed at FatFace Newquay as a summer temp assistant where I learned valuable retail skills including serving customers, checking stock, keeping the shop floor clean, handling transactions, and generally maintaining customer needs.
